FEEDING OF PRISONERS.

NOTHING IN THE POLICE RULES ON THE BUBJECT.

Cortright Have Prisoners with Money May Bay Food-Those Without Cared for by Police Out of Their Own Pockets Irish Regiment Musta't Parado with Arms, The meeting of the Police Board which was to have been held on Tuesday, and which went over owing to the absence of Col. Grant and Commissioner Parker, was held yesterday. All the Commissioners were on hand shortly after

Col. Kipp, the chief clerk, read the minutes of the meeting of May 12, over which there was a squabble at the last meeting. Commissioner Parker wanted the minutes of that meeting read then, but on the votes of the President and Mr. Andrews the reading was dispensed with.

After Col. Kipp had read the minutes, and also the minutes of the meeting held May 15, he announced from the notes of his minute book that Commissioners Roosevelt and Andrews had waited for one hour and twenty minutes for a meeting Tuesday, and, as no quorum was resent, the meeting went over until yesterday. Col. Grant and Mr. Parker made no response. and all the minutes were approved.

Acting Deputy Chief Cortright made a report to rd relative to the feeding of prisoners in station houses, Mayor Strong having asked for information on the subject. In the report he said that there was nothing in the regulations of the service bearing on the subject. He thus continued:

"For upward of thirty years it has been customary to feed in the station houses only prisers who, after arraignment in court, have been remanded for a further hearing or examinaon of their cases. Such prisoners, as well as all other prisoners, have always had afforded to them the privilege of sending out for meals if 47 and 49 Beaver at. they had the means to purchase them, or of having their meals brought to them by relatives or friends. And as for prisoners without means ho were really in need of a meal, I have never known a single case where they were not provided with food, and I have known of many cases where their wants in this regard were supplied at the expense of the doorman who had immediate charge of them, or the officer in command of the station.

There are about 100,000 prisoners arrested by the police of this department every year, the by the police of this department every year, the greater number of whom are arrested at such time that they have to spend the night or a part of the night in the prisons of the various station houses. To feed such a number of prisoners would involve a considerable extra expense on the department.

"Since the Saturday Half Holiday law went into effect the City Magistrates' courts have closed on Saturdays at 13 o'clock noon, and thus prisoners arrested after noon on that day have to be held in the station houses until they are arraigned in court the post morning. It is this be held in the station houses until they are arraigned in court the next morning. It is this fact that causes the only difficulty that seems to exist in connection with the subject in question, and this question, such as it may be, has existed only since the Saturday Haif Holiday law went into effect."

Commissioner Roosevelt said it would need $40,000 a year to feed all prisoners kept in station houses. The report was sent to Mayor Strong.

Strong.

Commissioner Andrews brought up the resolution which he and President Roosevelt wanted to get passed on Tuesday asking the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to appropriate $300,000 for the payment of the salaries of the 400 new patrolmen authorized by law. Col. brant said that with the increase of the force additional house worm was also needed. brant said that with the increase of the force additional house room was also needed. Commissioner Parker declared that the additional men were hadly peeded, especially in the assex of district, where police protection was not what it should be. He suggested that some members of the Board appear before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and make a special request that the appropriation asked for be granted. The resolution was passed.

Commissioner Parker had some talk with his colleagues about the action taken by them at one of the meetings when he was not present asking the Sinking Fund Commissioners to issue-revenue bonds for supplying the department with money. This was done when the transfer of money to the contingent fund was being held up by Comptroller's letter on the wholes.

The matter was referred to Commissioner Andrews, who said that the First Regiment Irish Volunteers did not belong to the National Guard, and had no right to parade with firearms. The regiment may parade without firearms, Mr. Andrews said.

FLETCHER HARPER'S ESTATE.

Morigages Given by Two Heirs Are Valld Liens Upon the Realty.

Justice Beekman of the Supreme Court handd down yesterday a decision concerning the estate of Fletcher Harper, the publisher, who died in 1877. The persons interested in the de-cision are Mrs. Ellen J. H. Haight and William D. Harper, brother of Mrs. Haight, who are grandchildren of the deceased. In addition to his widow, Jane Freelove Harper, Fletcher Harper left two children and five grandchildren. The widow was to have the family residren. The widow was to have the family residence in this city during her life and another residence at Irvington-on-the-Hudson. This real estate was to be soid after her death and the rocer's divided between Mrs. Haight and William N. Harper.

The widow died on April 17, 1895, and the principal of a trust fund of $100,000 was then divided among the five grandchildren. Releases were procured from Mrs. Haight and William I. Harper, who elected to take their interest in the result during the listings of their grandmother instead of after her death. To secure loans they mortgaged their interests in this real loans they mortgaged their interests in this real state, giving as collateral their share in the $100,000 trust fund referred to. The Chatham National Hank and the First National Hanks of Plaisfield, N. J., holds the mortgage against Mrs. Haight and William D. Harper.

The decision states that the grandchildren had the right to mortgage their interests in the property before the death of Mrs. Fletcher larger and the right to elect to take the real cause instead of the property and the executors under the will cannot be exercised. The mortgages held by the shove-named banks are walld liens on the property, and these banks are entitled to be paid out of Mrs. Halanks and W. B. Harper's interest in the trust fund.

AFRAID OF JUTE JINGO'S CRAB. The Excuse Three Negresses Gave for Their Disorderly Conduct.

Three fat pegresses were arraigned in Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. They were Apple Johnson, 25 years old, of 247 Seventh avenue; Marcella Carroll, 21 years old, of 213 Sullivan street, and Mable Marks, 20 years old, of 247 Seventh avenue. Mable Marks was the fattest of the three and the most talkative.

Detectives Pepperted and Taylor of the West Thirty-seventh street station said that they found all three women fighting in front of the German Catholic Church, at 223 West Thirtieth street, early in the morning. Annie Johnson said Mabel Marks had stolen $3 from her. The Carroll woman belped Mable Marks do it. When Magistrate Mott asked Mabel Marks what the row was about she said: "Jedge, dis heah talk about a fight is nonsense. Dere wern't any fight. I'm powerful afeard of crabs, Jedge, that's all."

The lay session of the ti. A. R., held this forenoon, was one of the stormiest in the history of the organization. The strife was over the office of Senior Vice-Commander, for which Frederick Cossum of Auburn and John T. Davidson of Eimira were aspirants. A great many personal remarks were made by the friends of each, and at one time the Convention was in a fever heat.
John T. Graham of Rochester was elected Department Commander, John S. Koster of Lowville, Junior Vice-Commander, and James T.

CUTTING BROOKLYN'S RUDGET.

No New Hebool Buildings, Engine Houses or Police Stations.

The Brooklyn Board of Estimate held a brief meeting yesterday to consider the municipal budget for 1897. Mayor Wurster said he was determined to keep down the tax rate, and the policy of the administration was made manifest policy of the administration was made manifest before the Board had been ten minutes in session. President Clark of the Board of Aidermen offered a residution providing that all requisitions for new school buildings, new police stations, and new engine houses be disallowed. The resolution was promptly adopted, and thus at one stroke the board cut down the requisitions by peerly $2.000.000.

The board reduced the budget of the Police Department by cutting off a request for 150 adultional patrolmen, thirty-live roundsmen, ten mounted servencies, and forty-eight mounted patrolmen. The smoont allowed to the police was $2.302,200, a reduction of $333,750 from the amount asked.

The Board will meet again on Friday, and make other reductions in the sums asked for.

ON COR PORAL PUNISHMENT

COMING REPORT OF A COMMITTER OF NEWARK TEACHERS

It Will Probably Recommend the Estile-Will Probably Accommend the National Manual At the next monthly meeting of the Principais' Association of the Newark public schools, a report will be submitted by the committee of seven which was appointed nearly three years ago to recommend some means of enforcing discipline in the place of corporal punishment, which had recently been abolished. Before the abolition law of 1893 was passed, it had been customary for teachers and principals to punish incorrigible pupils by whipping them on the hands. What led directly to the abolition of this practice by the Legislature was a suit brought by the father of a pupil against a principal who had castigated the son. The court decided against the principal, but as the boy had received no injury the damages awarded were only six cents. The case gave rise to a sentimental agitation, which resulted in the passage of a law depriving schoolmasters of the power to inflict corporal punishment.

When this law had been passed the principals felt the necessity of devising some means of keeping order in the schools, and a committee was appointed to investigate the systems in other cities and to compare the results of the new system in Newark with the old one. The need was equally patent to the Board of Education and to the city superintendent. They decided to cooperate with the Principals' Association in working out a solution of the problem. Early in the course of its deliberations the plan of establishing a general ungraded school for incorrigibles appealed to the members of the committee. Correspondence was had with teachers in other cities where such schools already exist, and finally a circular letter was sent to the school superintendents in every town sent to the school superintendents in every town in the United States having over 10,000 population. In this circular inquiry was made as to whether such special schools had been established; if so, whether manual training was employed, whether corporal punishment was in use, whether special lexistation had been secured permitting the punishment of pupils, what method or punishment was used, and what the effect was upon the refractory pupils. The replies indicated that the plan had worked well wherever it had been tried. In general, better discipline was obtainable in these schools where corporal punishment was in vogue. The stigma wherever it had been tried. In general, better discipline was obtainable in these schools where corporal punishment was in vogue. The stigma attaching to a pupil who had been sent from a regular public school to a school for incorrigibles, together with the strict regimen required, proved in most cases to be effective, and after a pear or two the pupils could be sent back to the regular school with some assurance of more orderly conduct on their part.

Inasmuch as the members of the committee are not prepared to resemmend a general return to corporal punishment, they will probably advocate the establishment of a school for incorrigibles in Newark. Whether corporal punishment, they will probably advocate the establishment of a school for incorrigibles in Newark. Whether corporal punishment shall be included in the scheme of this institution or not has not been decided. Some of the principals consider it necessary, and others do not.

While the inquiry of the Principals' Association has been unofficial it has been made with the cooperation of the Newark school authorities, and they are discussed to favor the recommendations of the principals. In his annual report submitted last January, City Superintendent Barringer said:

"The subject of an ungraded school for irregular and incorrigible pupils has been presented to the Board, and much information has been collected from many cities in different parts of the country. An institution of this kind, properly organized and administered as an aid in correcting the evils named, will be an advantage to the public schools of our city and a great help in securing larger and more regular attendance."

F. H. Hanson, principal of the Washington Street School, who is accretary of the commitattendance."
F. H. Hanson, principal of the Washington

Street School, who is secretary of the commit-tee of the Principals' Association, said yes-terday:

"The abolition of corporal punishment has "The abolition of corporal punishment has handicapped us greatly in maintaining discipline. The only recourse it leaves us in dealing with a refractory pupil is to suspend him, and that is no pupils had been all. It just suits the pupil. As defrom that, if the parents were disposed to take the matter into the cours I am not sure but they could compel us to reinstate the pupil in view of the Compulsory Education law. It is a bad thing any way for a boy who is inclined to be victous to be turned out into the streets. I have tried to get around the difficulty by the device of giving a pupil who has misbehaved a card stating that his conduct has been poor and requiring him to take it to his parent and bring it back next day with his or her signature. Idleness, disobedience, disrespect to the teacher, and disorder are included in poor deportment. When it is necessary to send the card home for the fourth time the parent is asked to return with the pupil, and if it is sent for a week or more without effort I consider that I have good reason to suspend the pupil. "This plan has worked very well in my school.

in the cran story and denied that there was a fight over $3.

"I done lose no money," said Annie Johnson, sigeling.

"You're fined $3 each," said the Court. "After this keep off the streets when there are crabs to the streets when there are crabs. "Thank der Lord we wusn't sent to der island," said Mabel Marks to her two companions as they were led sway to prison.
